

GeoHay

Solutions

Chicken Processing Plant

Location: Georgia

Application: GeoHay was installed at a poultry processing plant in Central Georgia in order to keep the phosphorus and fecal matter from running off the plant site during a rain event. During the unloading of the transfer trucks, much of the fecal matter ends up on the ground in the loading area. GeoHay was installed as a ditch check and in several applications to protect the inlets on the facility.

Outcome:

